

Every soul bears a Countdown Mark—a glowing timer to the moment you meet your soulmate. Christopher Hawthorne was born with the first Mark ever recorded. Raised under the control of the CCA, his life has never been his own.

When his timer hits zero during a mandatory school presentation, it binds him to Noa Mitchell—a high school senior carrying silent wounds of her own. As their bond deepens, so does their entanglement in the Agency's plans... and the quiet, growing question of whether fate is really theirs to follow.
